Features

•Secondary market:

No representation is made as to the existence of a market for the Notes. Any prices indicated will be dependent upon factors affecting or likely to affect the value of the Notes such as, but not limited to, the remaining time to the Maturity Date, the outstanding principal amount, the Issuer's or, if applicable, the Guarantor's credit risk, the performance and volatility of the underlying asset, interest rates, exchange rates, credit spreads, and any incidental costs. For the sake of clarity, the valuations provided by the Calculation Agent will only be indicative and are by no means to be considered as either a bid price or a secondary market price for the Notes. Investors may sell the Notes on the secondary market in amounts at least equal to GBP 10,000 (ten thousands) and multiple of GBP 1,000 thereafter

Scenarii

1) Scenario 1

The investor receives a floating coupon till maturity. The investor gets a coupon higher than the 1.80% floor but lower than the 6.00% cap.

Quarter i (i = 1...n)	Q1	Q2	Q3	...	Qn
3 Month Libor	2.20%	2.30%	2.25%		6.50%
Coupon (expressed in annual basis)	2.20%	2.30%	2.25%		6.00%

For example in Qn, 3Month Libor fixes at 6.50% which is above the 6.00% cap. Therefore the investor has an opportunity cost of 50bps. Indeed, he receives 6.00% p.a.

2) Scenario 2

The 3-Month Libor fixes below 1.80%. Therefore, the investor gets the minimum coupon of 1.80% p.a.

Quarter I (i = 1...n)	Q1	Q2	Q3	...	Qn
3 Month Libor	1.00%	1.10%	1.15%		1.45%
Coupon (expressed in annual basis)	1.80%	1.80%	1.80%		1.80%

■ Market Risk

The market value of a structured security may vary significantly under the influence of various factors, such as the performance level of the underlying assets, their volatility, changes in interest rates or exchange rates, particularly if the security is denominated in a currency other than the investor's reference currency, the economic and financial context of the country(ies) that is/are concerned, and the remaining duration of the security to its maturity.

For structured securities with an "issuer call" enabling early redemption, prospects of reinvesting redeemed total amounts may be unfavourable.

For structured securities linked to credit markets, the bankruptcy risk of the various issuers of the underlying bonds changes chiefly according to their quality (reflected by their rating – see issuer risk below applied to the underlying bonds) and to the macroeconomic context. The investor must be aware of the quality of the issuer(s) in which investments are made. In addition, bond prices may vary considerably between the moment bonds are issued and their maturity date. This price variation is linked to interest rate changes on the market.

■ Structuring Risk

Structured securities being based on several complex parameters, the investor must have a perfect understanding of the mechanisms of the structured security offered and the consequences arising from the chosen redemption formula or valuation method, depending on different market forecasts and the nature of the underlying(s).

■ Issuer Risk

The structured security is not issued nor guaranteed by BNP Paribas Wealth Management which is acting only as distributor of the security. Each investor assumes both the issuer's credit risk and the potential guarantor's risk as defined in the security legal documentation. The issuer's and its guarantor's credit ratings reflect the independent opinion of the relevant credit rating agencies and are not to be considered as a guarantee of the credit quality. In case of the issuer's bankruptcy or indeed that of its guarantor, the investor could suffer partial or total loss of the initially invested capital.

■ Liquidity Risk

In the case of structured securities, product liquidity lies entirely in the hands of the issuer, who may or may not undertake in normal market conditions to buy or sell the security from/to the investor according to certain criteria defined at the outset (price, periodicity and minimum amount). Should he wish to exit before the maturity date, the investor may thus be unable to sell part or all of his financial asset, or may have to sell at a considerably unfavourable price. Finally, certain securities becoming relatively illiquid may face high volatility and a decline in their market value, thereby reducing the accuracy of their valuation in portfolios or even making such valuation impossible.

■ Financing

The purchase of financial instruments by means of borrowing brings with it additional risk. On the one hand, additional guarantees (additional assets as collateral) may be required. On the other hand, the loss incurred when prices move adversely is likely to be higher than without any borrowing. Fluctuations in prices of pledged financial instruments can therefore have a negative influence on the ability to repay the loans. It is important to clearly understand that the leveraging effect produced by buying financial instruments through the means of borrowing results in proportionately greater sensitivity to fluctuations in price, and therefore offers the prospect of higher gains, but also at the same time the risk of higher losses. In summary, the higher the leverage is, the greater the possible loss can be.

■ Conflicts of interest

Various potential and actual conflicts of interest may arise from the overall investment activities of the parties involved in the transaction, their investment professionals and their affiliates. In particular, the manager or its affiliates can offer/manage other investment vehicles which interests may be different to the interests of the holders of the securities described herein.

■ Capital Protection

a) Capital-protected products: capital protection is a condition resulting from the product set-up itself and exists only for when products come to maturity. Capital protection may, depending on the circumstances become partially or totally ineffective should a party to the security structuring default. Should the investor desire early redemption, and if market liquidity and the credit situation of the issuer or indeed its guarantor allow it, the investor may suffer a risk of loss on his protected capital (early withdrawal penalties, bad market conditions ...).

b) Non-capital protected products: this instrument not offering any capital protection, the initial capital (par value or acquisition value) is not protected at all. Should unfavourable events arise, the investor may suffer a partial or total loss of his initially invested capital.
